

ADMINISTRATION AND MANAGEMENT

1. The midwifery team in a maternity ward holds a short daily briefing to coordinate care plans for all postpartum mothers, ensuring each team member's actions contribute to safe deliveries and timely mother-baby recovery. This demonstrates which Fayol principle?

- a. Order
- b. Subordination of individual interest
- c. Scalar Chain
- d. Unity of Direction

Correct answer: d. Unity of Direction

Explanation:

Unity of Direction means one plan, one objective, one leader for activities with the same goal.

The daily briefing ensures everyone works toward safe deliveries and timely recovery, under a single coordinated plan.

2. A nurse feels that the allocation of coveted holiday time off is always unfair. The nurse manager decides to implement a transparent, seniority-based system that everyone agrees is just. This action promotes:

- a. Stability of Tenure

- b. Equity
- c. Discipline
- d. Esprit de Corps

Correct answer: b. Equity

Explanation:

Equity refers to fairness and justice in treatment of employees.

A transparent, seniority-based system ensures fairness and reduces resentment.

3. A midwife in the postpartum ward develops innovative breastfeeding education materials for new mothers. The midwifery manager recognizes her efforts and shares them across the team to motivate others. This practice primarily reinforces which of Fayol's principles?

- a. Remuneration
- b. Esprit de Corps
- c. Initiative
- d. Equity

Correct answer: c. Initiative

Explanation:

Initiative encourages employees to think creatively and contribute ideas.

Recognizing and sharing innovations motivates others to do the same.

4. A community health nurse repeatedly arrives late for vaccination outreach sessions, causing delays and confusion in service delivery. After informal counseling proves ineffective, the nurse manager issues a formal written warning in line with organizational policy. This action exemplifies which of Fayol's principles?
- a. Discipline
 - b. Authority
 - c. Stability of Tenure
 - d. Order

Correct answer: a. Discipline

Explanation:

Discipline involves obedience, respect for rules, and corrective action when standards are not met.

5. The hospital's infection control committee (top-level) creates a new policy. This policy is communicated through the director of nursing (middle-level) to the nurse managers (supervisory level), who then trains their staff.

This flow of information is an example of:

- a. Equity
- b. Subordination of individual interest
- c. Initiative
- d. Scalar Chain

Correct answer: d. Scalar Chain

Explanation:

Scalar Chain refers to the formal line of authority from top management down to frontline staff.

6. A skilled midwife is contemplating leaving the maternity ward due to limited opportunities for professional growth. To retain her, the midwifery manager implements policies that support career progression and long-term employment. This action aligns primarily with which of Fayol's principles?

- a. Remuneration
- b. Unity of Direction
- c. Stability of Tenure

d. Centralization

Correct answer: c. Stability of Tenure

Explanation:

Stability of Tenure emphasizes long-term employment to improve efficiency and reduce turnover.

7. The entire maternity unit, from consultants to cleaners, is trained on the new goal of achieving “Baby-Friendly Hospital”

Accreditation. Everyone understands their role in this initiative. This demonstrates:

- a. Discipline
- b. Scalar Chain
- c. Stability of Tenure
- d. Unity of Direction

Correct answer: d. Unity of Direction

Explanation:

All staff understand and work toward one common organizational goal.

8. A newly qualified midwife is offered a competitive salary, comprehensive benefits, and access to ongoing professional development. The hospital implements this strategy to attract and retain skilled staff. This approach primarily reflects which of Fayol's principles?
- a. Equity
 - b. Remuneration
 - c. Centralization
 - d. Initiative

Correct answer: b. Remuneration

Explanation:

Remuneration focuses on fair compensation to attract, motivate, and retain staff.

9. In a hospital setting, which statement most accurately captures the core function of a Nurse Manager in bridging administrative directives and clinical operations?
- a. Drafting broad regulatory and policy frameworks
 - b. Delivering bedside patient care as the primary responsibility
 - c. Defining the hospital's long-term strategic vision

- d. Implementing the administration's objectives through day-to-day operational planning

Correct answer: d. Implementing the administration's objectives through day-to-day operational planning

Explanation:

Nurse Managers translate administrative goals into daily clinical operations.

10. Which of the following skills is CRITICAL for a middle manager, such as a Unit Manager, to successfully mediate between the strategic goals set by top management and the operational realities faced by first-line staff?

A Human Relations Skills

b. Financial Accounting Skills

c. Conceptual Skills

d. Technical Skills

Correct answer: a. Human Relations Skills

Explanation:

Middle managers must communicate, negotiate, and motivate staff while aligning with top management goals.

11. A senior midwifery manager in a maternity ward allows ward supervisors to independently adjust staff rosters and manage minor medical supply orders. This management approach exemplifies which Fayol principle?

- a. Decentralization
- b. Scalar Chain
- c. Discipline
- d. Centralization

Correct answer: a. Decentralization

Explanation:

Decentralization involves delegating authority to lower management levels.

12. The frustration experienced by a middle manager who is held responsible for a unit's performance metrics but lacks the authority to hire competent staff or approve necessary equipment purchases is a failure in the proper alignment of:

- a. Levels of Management with appropriate authority.
- b. Division of Work.

O c. The Scalar Chain.

c. Unity of Direction.

Correct answer: a. Levels of Management with appropriate authority

Explanation:

Managers must have authority equal to their responsibility to perform effectively.

13. A charge nurse is held responsible for reducing patient fall rates but has not been given the authority to implement a new safety protocol she designed. She feels frustrated and unable to effect change. This situation violates which principle?

a. Discipline

b. Initiative

c. Balance of Authority and Responsibility

d. Equity

Correct answer: c. Balance of Authority and Responsibility

Explanation:

Authority must match responsibility; otherwise, frustration and inefficiency result.

14. Luther Gullick expanded Henry Fayol's functions of management into an acronym.

What is that acronym?

a. POSDCORB

b. SMART

c. PESTLE

d. SWOT

Correct answer: a. POSDCORB

Explanation:

POSDCORB = Planning, Organizing, Staffing, Directing, Coordinating, Reporting, Budgeting

15. Nurse Joyce is assigned to handle all complex wound dressings on the ward, while Nurse Jeffery focuses on medication administration.

This is an example of which management principle?

a. Scalar Chain

b. Division of Work

c. Authority and Responsibility